

Abstract

A Study on Risks and the Insecure Society in Seoul

Kwonjoong Choh · Ji-Won Choi

Around 2014, anxiety and insecurity prevailed Korean Society. Since young students asked peace and satisfaction to citizen, country faced disaster of Sewol Ferry. Citizens felt unsafe and have perceived risks.

This study attempted to diagnose the insecure society. Seoul is regarded as the insecure society. Focus of study resided in citizens perception and attitude about risks originated from urban society. The survey showed that 51.8% of citizen sample perceived insecurity in Seoul. Also 40.6% of sample experienced anxiety in everyday life. Citizens expected the increase of risks from lifetime cycle.

Five new social risks have been identified on the social policy agenda; birth and childcare, youth unemployment, working poor, housing problem, and aging insecurity. Citizens emphasized importance of social risks in the survey as follows: housing issue, youth problem, and aging insecurity. Those risks result in anxiety and insecurity of citizens.

Anxiety and insecurity is followed by lack of social trust. The task of social policy should focus on trust building and community. Social policy to respond to social risks should be founded on the social trust which resides in community of solidarity.

Contents

01 Risks and insecurity Phenomena in Seoul

- 1_Risks and Disasters
- 2_Insecurity prevails Society
- 3_Research Methods

02 Citizens Perception and Attitude in the Insecure Society

- 1_Questionnaire Survey Methods
- 2_Risks Perception: Is Seoul Safe?
- 3_Citizens Experience of Instability in Everyday Life
- 4_Citizens Attitude about the Insecure Society in Seoul

03 Analysis of Socio-economic Security in Seoul

- 1_The Social Quality Approach to Socio-economic Security
- 2_The Socio-economic Security in Seoul
- 3_Problems and Prospect

04 New Social Risks: Prospects of the Insecure Society

- 1_Rise of the New Social Risks
- 2_Trends of the New Social Risks
- 3_Citizens Perception about the New Social Risks
- 4_Insecurity and Latent Social Crisis

05 A Policy Task in the Insecure Society

1_Apprehension about the Future

2_Lack of Social Trust

3_Trust Building and Community

References

Appendix